PLEASE NOTE: The issuance of a zoning permit does not eliminate the need of the property owner to obtain applicable State and/or Local permits before commencing construction. Therefore, it is highly recommended that the property owner contact State and/or Local agencies (including but not limited to the Michigan DNR/DEQ, Crawford County Building Department, and local health department) to determine whether additional permits are required.

Please be aware that depending on the details of your project, various permitting through multiple agencies, may be required in addition to a zoning permit!

Examples of types of projects that would require additional permits from various other agencies

- New homes, additions to existing homes, demolition (partial or full) of homes or accessory buildings, new accessory buildings, or additions to existing accessory buildings, attached or detached accessory structures, such as decks, patios, and fences: all require local township zoning permits, county building permits, health department permits for new house or if adding bedrooms for addition to a house. EGLE (formerly DEQ) permit if any construction taking place in wetland or floodplain. Soil erosion permits for excavation and earth disturbance within 500' of a river or body of water.
- Dock, staircase into water, shoreline stabilization, or other project in the water: Local (SBT) Natural River zoning permit, and EGLE permit.
- Placement of fill: EGLE permit if in wetland or floodplain, twp. NR zoning permit, soil erosion permit.
- Public projects, such as public road-stream crossings, access site development/improvement, twp./county/federal projects, large scale in-stream habitat projects, requires utility/public project Natural Rivers permit directly from DNR.
